... In Slovenia, tap water isn't just potable, it's delicious!

... You can help protect the environment by limiting your water and electricity consumption.

... Try local dishes and buy goods from local providers.

... To get around the city, use a bike, e-bike, e-bus, or the wandering Maister mini e-vehicle to reduce emissions.

... The city's biggest attraction, the Old Vine House with its 400-year-old grapevine, offers an elite selection of wines from Štajerska, so you can support local winemakers and the region's economy.

... Maribor boasts several buildings that proudly bear the sustainability marks EU Ecolabel and Green Key.

... The destination also offers green adventures, including bird watching, impressive botanical gardens, and the chance to bike through the whole region.

... Take part in a workshop on processing Slovenian wood, a workshop on baking local specialties, a sommelier workshop, a chocolate workshop, or even a beekeeping workshop.

... Enjoy local delicacies, from the Pohorje omelet and mushroom with buckwheat "žganci" to our local stews and charcuterie.

... Check out traditional events like the Lent Festival, the Old Grapevine Festival, and the Golden Fox skiing tournament.
